

TO KILL CAT COSTS DOG HIS LIFE, MISTRESS $2

Feline Tragedy on Central Park West Arouses Neighborhood and Lands Miss Rutledge in Court.

Miss Lillian Rutledge, nineteen years old, petite, dark and pretty, took her English bulldog, Budweiser, out for an airing at 1 A. M. to-day. She had been at a party, she said later in court, and this was the first chance the poor thing had for an airing since yesterday afternoon. All went well until at Central Park and Sixty-second Street a large gray squirrel leapt over the park wall, closely pursued by a cat. Budweiser broke from his leash and caught the cat. Miss Rutledge ran home as fast as she could.

Windows flew up as the cat howled. All the neighborhood was aroused. Policemen Kelleghan ran up, seized the dog by the neck and finished it with four bullets from his pistol. The cat was dead.

Kelleghan went to Miss Rutledge's home, No. 104 West Fifty-eighth Street, and served a summons upon her for having a dog on the street without a muzzle. Magistrate Levy listened to her sad story in the West Side Court today. She protested poor Bud had a muzzle properly on when he left home for his last airing.

"That's what they all say," exclaimed the policeman. "The muzzle was hanging loose from his neck when I got him."

"Two dollars fine," the Magistrate decided.

Miss Rutledge shed a bitter tear and paid.

SIGNALS NOT SET AGAINST KERRIGAN, DETECTIVE SAYS

Towerman Grove Admitted It to Him. White Tells Coroner at Inquest.

Harry White, a Bronx detective, testified before Coroner Flynn and a jury to-day that Towerman Grove of the Interborough Company admitted to him that he did not have the signals set against Motorman Frank Kerrigan, who lost his life in the rear end "clash" crash at One Hundred and Forty-ninth Street and Third Avenue. The detective's testimony was given at the beginning of an inquest into Kerrigan's death.

Detective White said he was one of the first on the scene. He met Towerman Grove, who, when asked, pointed out that he had set the signal against Motorman Kerrigan, admitted to him that he had failed to do so.

That he found the shades of the signal room in Towerman's tower lowered, was another of White's statements.

AUTO VICTIM FOUND DYING.

Car That Killed Man Did Not Stop After Accident.

A negro about fifty-six years old, believed by the police to have been John Beardsley, a laborer, of No. 921 West One Hundred and Thirty-sixth Street, died in St. Vincent's Hospital early this morning of injuries received late last night, when he was struck by an automobile at Greenwich Street and West Twelfth Street.

Patrolman Daly of the Charles Street Station found him lying near the curb with a fractured skull and Dr. Finnegan removed him to the hospital. The automobile had continued without stopping and the police had no clue to its identity.
